A GERMAN-AMERICAN EDITOR

Gives His Views on the Political Situation and Says That Hanna Cannot Drive the Men Into Line.

Special to News-Democrat.

Washington, Sept. 16.—Mr. Louis Schade, the well known German-American lawyer and editor of the Washington Sentinel, has the following to say in regard to the Ohio campaign:

"Mr. McLean is sure to receive a large vote. The labor element is very friendly to his candidacy; and with the people generally he is popular. The people of Ohio know that he has always been a staunch supporter of organized labor."

SIGNS OF REVOLT.

"The fight in Ohio, although not a national one, will, nevertheless, be a reconnaissance in force which will develop the strength and weakness of the enemy. So also those who are more intensely interested in national questions than in the important issues of the state will fraternize with those who care more for state interests, and will work with them side by side."

"The recent fight in the Eighth Congressional district of Missouri was made entirely upon the imperialistic question, and demonstrates to the voters of Ohio that they may look forward to the same issue clearly defined in their campaign. In the two German strongholds, Osage and Cole counties, the Republicans polled a vote far less than last year, which shows that the German American Republicans refuse to be won over to imperialism by partisan appeals. This step in the face of the administration, for that is what the Missouri election means, will not fail to have its effect upon the future of imperialism."

WILL FOLLOW MISSOURI.

"Where Missouri now leads her sister states will follow when the true character of the policy adopted by the administration becomes known."

"It is only a question of time when the German-Americans of Ohio will repeat in thunder tones the declaration of Missouri. 'We want no empires. We are willing to stand by the republic.'"

Mr. Schade when questioned concerning the anti-trust plank in the Ohio state Republican platform, said: "The sincerity of the Ohio Republicans would have been more convincingly demonstrated if they would have re-endorsed Attorney-General Monnett, who made such a vigorous fight against the trusts under the laws of Ohio. I am candidly of the opinion that the prospects of Democratic success never were brighter in the history of Ohio politics."

FULTON STREET FAIR.

Good Weather All That Is Required to Make It a Grand Success.

Special to News-Democrat.

Canal Fulton, Sept. 16.—The Fulton Street fair which opens on Sept. 20, is only wanting good weather to make it a success. The final touches to the decorations are under way, under the efficient management of George Becker and a score of assistants. The premiums in many instances are equal to those offered at county fairs.

President McCadden says: "I see nothing but a successful close for the fair, for the executive and soliciting committees have worked faithfully, diligently and harmoniously, and their efforts and labor are worthy the best street fair in Ohio." And all the other officers agree with him.

GERMANS AROUSED.

A Wapakoneta Organ of the Germans Makes an Editorial Statement.

Special to News-Democrat.

Wapakoneta, O., Sept. 18.—That the German-Americans of this county, without almost any exceptions, are heartily in favor of the election of the Democratic ticket this fall is becoming more evident every day. This is no surprise to those who know the deep-seated resentment shown by the true Germans toward the proposed Anglo-American alliance. In the central and western parts of this county the Germans compose a large proportion of the population, and the influence of their vote will be felt. Die Post, the official German paper of the county, is a strong advocate of McLean's election and urges all Germans of whatever politics to vote for him. This paper is published by a company, of which Carl D. Fisher, a leading Republican and prominent business man of this city, is president. Die Post says editorially this week:

"It is acknowledged by every citizen that our present governor, Asa Bushnell, a Republican, has made an honest, upright and capable official. One reason for this is that he is and always has been a business man. Of the two candidates who this year are asking favors of the public, Judge Nash, the Republican, is a lawyer, while John R. McLean, the Democrat, is a business man. Let us not then when we go to the polls lose sight of this important point."

"Again, while the hungry coal miners in the Hocking Valley were on a strike several years ago, McKinley, then governor of Ohio, was there with his soldiers to feed the hungry strikers with bayonets and lead. We do not know or care where McLean was, but that he assisted the families of these laboring men with food and provisions is a matter of history."

"No newspaper, Republican or Democrat, has ever dared to say that John R. McLean is not a friend of the working man. Every act of his whole life would give such a charge. The man has done more for the laborer and the poor than McLean."

GENERAL SHERWOOD

Tendered a Reception at Marysville and Says the Prospects Are Bright.

Special to News-Democrat.

Marysville, O., Sept. 18.—General Isaac R. Sherwood, late candidate for governor, was tendered a reception at the Oakland hotel Saturday night, by a number of prominent Democratic politicians while en route to his home in Toledo from Dayton. General Sherwood stated to friends here that the prospects for an overwhelming victory in Ohio this fall never looked brighter than now. He stated that the Democrats would poll a large per cent of the colored vote, and said that the state executive committee was one of the best ever organized. He remarked that Jones would not poll many votes outside of Toledo.

Settled the Case.

Attorney R. S. Ambler, as administrator of the estate of Nelson Porter, has been authorized to settle claim against the W. & L. E. railway for wrongful death. It is understood the administrator has settled with the company for $2,000.

NECK BROKEN.

Carroll County Resident Meets
With an Accident While On His Way Home.

Barney McGill, a well known stone mason, residing near Augusta in Carroll county, went to Carrollton Friday, to figure on the new Methodist church which is to be erected in that place. On returning toward home he drove out the wrong road leading along a high embankment, but seeing his mistake he evidently attempted to turn around and was thrown out of his buggy and down the embankment. A man and his daughter named Croxton residing about four miles from Carrollton, were driving along the same road and discovered the lifeless body of McGill, and being afraid to molest it they hurriedly drove to some neighboring houses and summoned assistance. McGill was dead when he was picked up, his neck being broken and his face badly crushed. The deceased leaves a wife. He was 55 years of age.
